Farm Problems Discussed By Senator McNary

G.O.P. Candidate For Vice President Speaks At Aurora Today

Aurora, Sept. 21.—P. Senator McNary, in his first major address, charged today that the New Deal found "agriculture" a functional disorder.

McNary, the Republican candidate for vice president, spoke at the Exposition park in Aurora today.

McNary said that he was speaking as a farmer who worked successfully for almost a century ago. McNary said the farmer had been forced into a dependence on the government and added:

"The New Deal, it is true, has kept the farm population off the bread line. That is not my idea of progress. In the seven New Deal years, average farm income per acre has been only $1.124 including payments. In the seven years before it was $1.432."

Nazi Air-Raiders Swarm Across Channel

Boy Kidnaped

Marc de Tristan (above), 3, son of a wealthy and socially prominent family, was kidnapped by two men, as he and his nurse walked near the family's home at Hillsborough, Cal., about 25 miles south of San Francisco. The men left a note demanding $100,000 for the boy's return.

Argentina Plans On 330 Million Arms Program

Intends To Spend Most Of Vast Sum In The United States

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Buenos Aires.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—Argentina is working at top speed on a five-year rearmament program to cost $300,000,000 pesos (about $30,000,000).

Settlement of the recent political crisis precipitated by an army land purchase scandal gave the go-ahead signal for the vast program. Technical experts now are preparing details for presentation to the national legislature, acting with full powers from acting President Roberto M. Ortiz.

New Military Machine
It is known they have borrowed heavily from the lessons learned from the allied debacle in Flanders in specifying heavy purchases of modern aircraft, anti-aircraft artillery and mechanized equipment.

In addition to placing the bulk of the orders in the United States, army and navy leaders are seeking to obtain American training for officers of Argentina's proposed new military machine.

Paralleling the five-year plan of defensive rearmament to make Argentina invulnerable.

Censorship Of Some Sort Now Envelopes Most Of World
By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Chief of Foreign Service

Censors' shifting theories muddy the stream of news but the fortunes of war enable reporters to tell the vital truths of the conflict.

Heavily-lightened British censorship hides some details of the Nazi war on England. Times of attack and exactness of damage are blacked out from London and British government quickly bring out essential facts.

Censorship of some sort envelopes most of the world. It ranges from a blanket of fear and silence to the "censorship of responsibility" under which United States is free to tell what in particular and what they can justify by facts.

Little Success As R.A.F. Turns Them Backward

Italy's Report Destructive Raids On Matruh, Egypt; Berlin Reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nazi air-raiders, opening their third week of mass attacks on the British capital, swarmed across the English channel in mist and rain today, but reports from Britain indicated they met with little success.

London had one brief alarm as a formation of German planes swept over the city. Anti-aircraft guns opened up and the planes retired. Along the Kentish coast reports said British ground guns turned back the raiders.

The Italians reported a destructive mass air raid on Matruh, Egypt, where British were bringing up supplies for a stand against Italy's legions, preparing at Sidi Barrani for a further eastward advance towards Alexandria.

Britain credited stormy weather and a stout defense today with taking the edge off the 14th consecutive dusk-to-dawn German bomb attacks on England, but looked for a quick renewal of fiercer air war as daybreak disclosed fast-clearing skies.

Clouds Fail to Halt
But even the night of clouds and storm failed to halt the raiders of either side.

Nazi bombs thundered down at intervals during the night on central and southern London. Tightening British censorship held up mention of the exact time and length of the attacks.

The British said, however, that casualties appeared fewer than on previous nights, and that along England's southeast coast took grim satisfaction in the red glow of fires from their own flares started in German raid planes on the French side of the channel.

The fires, the flash of rockets, and the roar of explosions indicated a concentrated attack on the Nazi bases from Calais to Boulogne.

The Germans termed their attacks on and near London "successful" despite weather which they said gave them more trouble than the British defense. The German news agency D.N.B. said the British also tried a strong attack aimed at Berlin, but that the raiders were turned back.

Claim British Planes Stopped
One wave of British planes was said to have attacked by way of Hamburg, and another across the western front. D.N.B. said both were stopped by anti-aircraft fire and chased back by pursuit planes.

Observers continued to speculate on the outcome of lengthy conference between Premier Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

M. L. Clancy Heads Funeral Directors

M. L. Clancy of Kankakee was elected president of the Kankakee District Funeral Directors association at the annual meeting last night in McBrook's cafe.

Kenneth Segur of Watseka was named vice president and Gilbert G. Hertz, Kankakee, secretary.

The district comprises the counties of Kankakee, Iroquois, parts of Will, Grundy and Livingstons.

Censorship obeyed with fear and accepted passively would stifle much of the truth. Intelligent reporters aren't getting truthful news.

What isn't known in one country usually becomes public in another, and by assaying official announcements in the light of other accurate information, the essential truth develops.

An illustration of this experience was the break-down of British censorship August 15 on the Nazi air-raid over London. British censors used hush-hush methods but German gave a "play-by-play" account many gave-scale bombing. The British censors' action raised a storm of protest in England and obliged the censors to let newspapers in England and abroad know rather fully what was happening.

Facts may be hidden in an occupied country when communications are cut but such secrecy arouses suspicions that often are worse than the truth and occupation authorities usually loosen their lips.

Allen Rites Held Friday At Braceville

Braceville, Sept. 21.—(RN Special)—Funeral services for George B. Allen, 64, state representative of the 20th senatorial district, were conducted at the residence here yesterday afternoon and were largely attended.

The Rev. Roy Goodell, pastor of the Methodist church of Braceville, officiated and burial was in the Braceville-Gardner cemetery.

The active pallbearers were Matt Reay, Russell Huston, John Berglund, Felix Cullock, W. S. Arthurs, Louis Cinnotto, Leo Guardia and James Barnes.

The Masonic lodge of Braceville, of which Mr. Allen was a member, conducted its ritual at the grave.

Mr. Allen, prominent business man here and active in civic affairs, died at his home Tuesday evening after a several months' illness of heart disease.

He had served Kankakee, Iroquois and Grundy counties as state representative for two terms and last spring was renominated on the Republican ticket.

Munson Says Red Cross Doubling Relief For London

A report on the relief work the Red Cross is doing in Great Britain was received today by Irving Munson, president of the Kankakee county chapter.

Effects to relieve London and other British cities have more than doubled since the beginning of September.

Arrangements for relief costing $4,250,000 have been made already and daily new requests are being met, thanks to the generosity of the American public who over-subscribed the Red Cross $20,000,000 war fund appeal.

Since early July 102 shipments of relief supplies have been made in British boats and two by clipper plane.

Main items shipped include food, food kitchens, clothing, medical supplies, surgical instruments, ambulances, drugs and surgical dressings. Blood plasma is also being sent to London.

Many articles of clothing are being made by the local chapter for shipment abroad.

Kidnap Victim Intelligent And Friendly

Hillsborough, Cal., Sept. 21.—(UPI)—Little Marc de Tristan Jr., kidnaped from the street of this exclusive suburb yesterday, would pass anywhere for a girl, for his golden, curly hair reaches almost to his neck.

The lad, son of Count and Countess Marc de Tristan, was described by friends as a most intelligent and friendly boy, a veritable chatterbox in both English and French.

He was dressed in a red, white and blue sun suit and wore white slippers when he was snatched from the hands of his nurse, Mary Foley, who had cared for him and guarded him since birth.

Little Marc had been so closely guarded during his tender years that few were able to describe his character and mannerisms.

His family, in their grief, are behaving "with dignity and courage," he was said by friends. The socially prominent Count and Countess remained quiet, restrained and gracious and have given no outward sign of hysteria. The Countess was said to be maintaining a stoical calm and the Count was considerate of all who contacted him.

Behind the drawn Venetian blinds of the rambling 15-room home his figure could be seen pacing to and fro in the library.

The Countess, who enjoys night-clubbing as much as she does golf, has long been a favorite in peninsula society. She was born and reared in San Francisco, and has many friends.

In pairs and singly their friends called to pay their respects and to inquire if they could be of any help. But the Count and Countess asked only to be left alone so that they could negotiate for the ransom of their child.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGED

Legionnaires In Boston Ready For Convention

Three Days Of Business And Festivities Will Start Monday

Boston, Sept. 21.—(AP)—This city of almost 800,000 population encountered a "spare room" problem today as it welcomed throngs of American Legionnaires arriving for their second national convention here since 1930.

Legion officials said they expected an attendance of 300,000—world war veterans and their families—for the three-day session starting Monday.

With hotels and lodging houses enjoying capacity business, reservations for the overflow were booked at points as distant as Worcester, 40 miles west, and Plymouth, equally far away.

Tourist camps for miles around were called into service. Some visitors planned to sleep at the homes of local Legionnaires, some in sleeping trains and others on a steamship tied up here for the occasion.

Parade Tuesday
The big event of the convention—at least from the general public's viewpoint—will be the Legion's 22nd annual parade next Tuesday.

Convention officials said it would take approximately 12 hours to pass a given point, with an estimated 120,000 marchers and 400 bands of other musical units. They predicted 2,000,000 persons from throughout New England would line the route of March.

Though the convention opening was two days away, a carnival spirit prevailed but Legion leaders heralded the convention as the most important in the organization's history, largely because of issues raised by warfare abroad. "Americanism" will be the keynote.

Ten Legionnaires have announced their candidacy for the post of national commander, now held by Raymond J. Kelly, of Detroit.

284 Draft Boards In Illinois Will Be Named Soon

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The personnel of Illinois' 284 boards to administer the selective military service program probably will be announced within a fortnight. Adjutant General L. V. Regan said today.

Governor Horner has not yet completed the list of appointees and President Roosevelt must approve them before they may be made public, General Regan said.

Details of the draft program in Illinois will be discussed by the adjutant general and Illinois Director Paul G. Armstrong at conference with War Department officials in Washington next week.

Married 31 Years; Divorced Today

Two divorces were decreed this morning by default by Circuit Judge Luther B. Bratton.

Herman Meyer charged his wife Ida with desertion. The Meyers were married in Kankakee on Aug. 25, 1909 and their son and daughter are adults.

Mrs. Wyota Belle McKinney charged her husband Robert with desertion and obtained custody of her 11-year-old daughter Marilyn. Their son is adult. The couple was married in Kankakee on Jan. 22, 1914.

Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro represented the plaintiff in each case.

Molestor Of Children Is Caught Here

Al Voight, 48, of Custer Park was jailed at 7 o'clock Friday eve. by Officers John Powell and Percy Lagasse following an accident in which his car, traveling at high speed, failed to make the turn at Wall and Water streets and crashed into a parked vehicle.

Voight was being chased by Custer Park persons who accused him of molesting their children. Voight was held in the city jail today awaiting the sheriff of Will county.

The parked machine into which Voight crashed was that of Peter Yarno, 805 South Dixie avenue.

In four other accidents last evening one person was injured. Elva Suprenant, 19, sustained minor injuries when the auto of Jerome Suprenant, 21, 304 East Birch street, West River street, 37, 1062 North Schuyler avenue, collided at Court and Harrison avenues.

The other mishaps involved vehicles of Emilie Robins, 606 North Harrison avenue and Emma Naege, 21, 304 East Birch street, West River street, 37, 1062 North Schuyler avenue, collided at Court and Harrison avenues.

The Count and Countess Marc de Tristan (above) are the parents of three-year-old Marc de Tristan, who at Hillsborough, Calif., was snatched from the hands of his nurse by kidnapers who demanded $100,000 for his return.

3-Hour Program Nation On Road To Bankruptcy Avers Willkie

Will Address San Francisco Audience Tonight On Foreign Affairs

By THEODORE F. KOOP
San Francisco, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, who rode the "rods" into this city 30 years ago as a youthful harvest hand, returned today to climax his campaign for the state's electoral votes with a speech on foreign affairs.

Before his address tonight in the civic auditorium, however, he had a heavy day of "speechmaking" through the bay area. More than a dozen impromptu talks were on his schedule.

The Republican presidential nominee, a white carnation in his buttonhole, arrived last night after receiving cheers and some heckling in talks through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. It was in the latter's sunny fields that he worked at the age of 18.

Willkie's final speech Friday, before a trades audience at Sacramento, brought a declaration that friends had been saying, "Wendell, you don't pull your punches."

"I don't know how to fight that way," Willkie added. "If this administration thinks it can get away with the record of the road to bankruptcy, with the road of unemployment, with the road of concentration of power in Washington that it has attempted to accomplish and not

Civilian Committee To Help Administer Draft Named Soon

Washington, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A civilian advisory committee designed to represent the views of non-military interests in organizing and administering the draft law President Roosevelt named today, consisting of six members, it will include, informed officials said today, four experts on various phases of conscription who already are working with the army and navy selective service committee on the gigantic task of drawing thousands of men from civilian life into the army.

These four are Frederick Osborne, an expert on statistics, chairman of the group; Co. William Draper, an army reserve officer and former member of the New York investment house of Dillon, Read & Co.; Joseph P. Harris, professor of political science at the University of California, and an expert on elections; and Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, director of the American youth commission.

Officials said that these men and two others probably would be named to the advisory committee when Mr. Roosevelt appoints a director of selective service, or soon thereafter.

Meanwhile in preparation for calling the first contingent of 75,000 conscripts in November, subsequent to registration of all men 21 through 35 October 16, the senate yesterday rushed the bill for the conscription of 18 to the White House. The money will be used to build barracks and other facilities.

The measure was one of two pieces of fiscal legislation bearing on defense which congress made during the day. The other, finally approved by the senate 33 to 21, authorizes the Reconstruction Finance corporation to borrow $1,600,000 to bolster the economy of Latin American countries, acquire strategic war materials such as tin, and expand private armament industries.

Family Seeking Contact With Child Abductor

FBI And Police Withdraw Temporarily From Case; Note Gives Directions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hillsborough, Calif., Sept. 21.—The safety of kidnaped Marc de Tristan, Jr., was placed ahead of all other considerations today as the 3-year-old boy's wealthy family uncompromisingly declared its readiness to meet the beak-nosed abductor's $100,000 ransom demand.

FBI agents and local police withdrew from the pretentious De Tristan home in this exclusive little peninsula community, tucked away in the coastal hills 20 miles south of San Francisco, and gave the family a free hand in establishing contact with the dark-complexioned kidnaper.

In a 600-word typewritten note dropped where the boy was seized just before noon yesterday, the De Tristans were directed to get in touch with the kidnaper through an advertisement inserted in the advertising section of a San Francisco paper. This was done, and the ad appeared in the paper's late morning editions.

Nurse Knocked Down
Little Marc, the son of Count and Countess Marc de Tristan and step-grandson of Louis Shattuck Gates, president of the vast Phelps Dodge Corp., was out for an airing in his go-cart, accompanied by his nurse, when the kidnaper drove up in a car and roughly carried him away. The man threatened the nurse with a pistol.

The middle-aged nurse, Mary Foley, was knocked to the ground, and painfully bruised when she failed to save the boy. In her futile struggle she knocked off the man's gray hat. It is expected to be a valuable clue in tracing him later.

The chubby, curly-haired lad was speeded away in a dark sedan, pursued ineffectively for some distance by Albert Williams, a Negro chauffeur who drove up in a station wagon just as the kidnaper fled. Personal in the neighborhood managed to catch a glimpse of part of the license number.

Hook-Nosed Kidnap
The kidnaper was described by Miss Foley as a husky, dark-skinned man, about 48 or 50 years old, with a prominent hook-nose.

She and the boy were nearly half a mile from the De Tristan home when the man accosted her and asked "Is this the De Tristan child?"

Taken aback by the question, she said "why, yes."

The man said not another word, but pulled a pistol, grabbed the child and started for the car he had waiting at the curb. In her tussle with him Miss Foley suffered a leg injury and a bruised complexion.

Marc, Jr., with light brown hair worn in a mass of curls. He wore a sun suit with red, white and blue stripes, and white sandals.

Police Chief Claude Hirshey of Hillsborough made contents of the wordy ransom note public immediately after it was turned over to him.

"I believed it possible at that time that officers might apprehend a man

SENIOR SCORES IN 3RD QUARTER; DEFEATS VITTS Strategical Under Fire After Tribe Defeat

Criticize Chief For Removing Pitcher Harder

By DALE STAFFORD
Detroit, Sept. 21.—The opening battle was ended by the argument raged on today as the Detroit Tigers, a full game up on their foes, squared off against the Cleveland Indians in the second part of the American league's pre-war series triple feature.

As usual the argument centered on the No. 1 man in most of Cleveland's disturbances this year—Major Vitti—against the Detroit 12 of the Indians rebuffed last June 13.

This time Vitti's strategy was under fire as a result of the eighth inning of yesterday's contest in which Detroit scored five runs to break up the Indians' lead.

After appearing to have been defeated, Vitti was being criticized for:

(1) Removing Pitcher Mel Harder after he had allowed only four singles and one run in seven and one-third innings.

(2) Sending Bobby Peller in as the relief pitcher, who had pitched in only 24 hours rest after being called out to defeat the Washington Senators, to 1, on Wednesday.

Vitti showed no surprise when informed that he was being "fanned" in some quarters.

"I'd do the same thing in the same situation today," Vitti said. "Harder, who is past 30 years of age, was tiring and had lost his control."

22 Lettermen Lift Hoosier Football Hopes

By A. N. ROY McMillan
Indiana University Football Coach
(Written for United Press)
Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 21.—(UP)—The Indiana university football squad is looking forward with the greatest of anticipation to the season of 1940.

Although we have a good nucleus of veterans—22 lettermen of which 16 are seniors—every position on the team is open, and the competition is remarkably keen.

It is highly probable that our running attack will be in better shape than last season, and will fit in better with our passing game. Our boys believe in themselves, and we are faster and stronger than we have been the past two years.

Line is stronger.

Our line inside the ends, will stack up stronger than last season. We are considerably weaker at ends than we had anticipated, with only three experienced boys on hand. These are Archie Harris and Eddie Huelskamp, who I think are the best ends in the conference, and Mike Dumke.

We have four tackles from last year, Al Sabol, Emil Tremontich, Frank Smith, and Jim Tumble, and a like number of guards in Gene White, Al Buchanan, Bill Smith, and Al Bragalone. At center are Dwight Galin, Kenny Moeller, and Walter Jurkiewicz, all of whom played last season.

In the backfield we have nine lettermen, but some sophomores may be able to crack into the lineup. From last season we have Harold Hirsch, the top forward passer in the league; Mickey McGuire, Eddie Herbert, Ray Dumke, Kenny Smith, and Harold "Red" Zimmer. Joe Toth, Harry "Tuffy" Brooks, Bill Timpane, who may be used some, and Cobb Lewis, who has played since the opening game in 1938.

Some of the sophomores are Pat Ronzone and Dale Swarth, both from Elkhart, Ind.; Earl Dolan, Bob White, Al Gruenick, brother of Eddie and Sid Gruenick.

Not kidding themselves.

We are not kidding ourselves about our opposition. Although we will be improved, every team in the league is an upswing in strength.

Despite the doubt, however, we are confident that we will have a certain attendance figure and Vitti says that figure has been passed.

Colorado's Gridders On Hot Spot

By DALE STAFFORD
Boulder, Colo., Sept. 21.—P—Football veterans at mid-high Colorado university are in much the same mood as the football players in the Big Ten. The sport is expected to be a hot spot for the president out of a job.

They spent part of the winter in the mountains, and setting new records after Bernard "Bunny" Oakes, the headlined ex-marine, piloted them to the 1939 mountain Big Seven conference championship.

Now Frank C. Potts, painstaking as a coach, is at the helm—but not as neutral observers look at it on the spot. The sport is expected to be a hot spot for the president out of a job.

Colorado's Gridders are on a hot spot. They spent part of the winter in the mountains, and setting new records after Bernard "Bunny" Oakes, the headlined ex-marine, piloted them to the 1939 mountain Big Seven conference championship.

To Re-Live Days Of Lincoln At New Salem, Ill.

Folk Festival Will Be Presented Nightly September 26, 27, 28

By ROBERT HEWETT
Lincoln's New Salem, Ill., Sept. 21—This little log cabin village is re-living the days of a century ago when young Abe Lincoln wrestled the town bully, clerked in a rude general store and fell in love with a blonde whose name was Ann Rutledge.

Men and women from the past, dressed in homespun and gingham, are reviving the spirit of Lincoln's early years for an impressive folk festival next week which sponsors hope will become an American tradition—a pageant with the power of the passion play of Oberammergau.

The Abraham Lincoln of 1940 is a gasoline station attendant; the 20th century Ann Rutledge is a beauty shop operator; the population of the historic town is recruited from neighboring Petersburg—but all were brought up on homely tales of Lincoln passed on by their grandparents from the men and women who were neighbors of the gangling president-to-be.

Folk Festival
The folk festival with a cast of 75 will be presented nightly on September 26, 27, 28 in the natural amphitheater of Kelso's Hollow, where 7,000 can be seated under the trees.

There will be recreated the simple scenes of Lincoln's life from the time he first rammed his raft into Rutledge dam until he left New Salem seven years later, a lanky self-educated country lawyer who won election to the state legislature.

"We want to show how Lincoln lived and learned at New Salem," declared Henry E. Pond of Petersburg, president of the Old Salem Lincoln league that fathered the folk festival and prompted the creation of a state park here.

"Too much of Lincoln's life has been over-dramatized. We deem it important that the world know his neighbors and thereby gain a better understanding of the influences upon him."

On the stage will come to life the men who directed the path of Lincoln's early yearning for knowledge: Jack Kelso and Mentor Graham; Jack Armstrong, the town braggart whom Lincoln wrestled and made a friend; James Rutledge, tavern keeper and father of Lincoln's first love; and several score others who influenced Lincoln's life.

Leading Characters
The leading role will be played by Edward Mitchell, Petersburg filling station attendant. Miss Jane Bast, 19-year-old beauty shop operator, was selected to play Ann Rutledge.

The festival, which will be free to the public, was made possible by cooperation of the state parks divisions, federal writers, artists and musicians. WPA craft, sewing and recreation projects, and CCC enrollees.

The script was written by Joe Abrams and Jacob Benckover of the Illinois writers project.

A symphony written under the direction of Albert Goldberg, state supervisor of the music project, will be the chief musical contribution.

Woman Fined For Scrubbing Her Front Porch

Centuria, Ill. Sept. 20—(P)—A woman was fined $8.40 here for scrubbing her front porch.

That's how serious the water situation is in a half-dozen cities of southern Illinois as the result of a summer-long drought.

Using city water to sprinkle lawns or streets, to drill oil wells or to wash cars is considered unnecessary by the city council and those practices have been banned by a city ordinance. The nearby towns of Sandoval, Central City and Wamac also depend on the Centuria water system and similar regulations are in force there.

One policeman patrols Centuria day and night seeking violators of the "dry" laws.

When the ordinance was enacted, the city water department officials predicted that the supply in Lake Centuria, which serves the city, would be exhausted by October 1 if consumption were not reduced drastically.

The water department now asserts the daily demand has decreased 400,000 to 500,000 gallons as the result of the regulations and the consumption now is approximately 1,700,000 gallons daily.

Less stringent regulations are in effect in Salem and Mt. Vernon as a result of the drought.

Joseph Schwartz, Salem weather observer, said the summer of 1940 was the driest in the 26 years he has recorded rainfall there. During the first eight months of this year, the rainfall at Salem totaled only 18.84 inches against a normal of

Lines to Autumn

Full in the tawny autumn sun, the fields stretch out in rows of pyramided yields, And here in the silver birches, the leaves,
(A tartan stain, whirl—twirl, among the sheaves,
When crisp winds comb the yellow, tangled skein
Of grass—brittle and sere along the lane.
The hunter's moon hangs red and low, in the sky
While piping scuttering mice scabble and fly
Down the dry stubbled aisles, where once the corn
Sheltered the pumpkin flower's delicate horn.
Later, the loon shatters the saffron shaft
On the velvet lake and the night winds waft
The cry of a solitary waterfowl
And frosty screech of the foraging owl.

Faced with a dwindling supply at their municipal reservoir, Salem officials are contracting for the construction of a 19-mile pipeline from the city reservoir to the Kaskaskia river to tap an emergency source of supply. The project will cost approximately $450,000.

Spanish conversations for the newspaper.

Regarding the Spanish language, England and America are not alone in their efforts to learn the language. Italy, Germany and Spain, as well as many other countries, are all making a determined effort to learn the language of the world's most populous nation.

Hints Spain Will Soon Declare War On Great Britain

Rome, Sept. 21—(UP)—A Telegraph Legion newspaper owned by the family of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, hinted today that Spain soon would declare war against Great Britain.

WEDDINGS, RICE, SPARROWS

Reno, Nev., Sept. 20—(UP)—When the Reno courtship began, it was a love affair. When it ended, it was a war. They showed up on the day that 325 couples—a record at the time for Reno—also showed up to be married, and the rice that had started the courtship was kept in sparrows at the burning point to the entire day.

The Voice of Wisdom

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for September 22 is Proverbs 4, the Golden Text being Proverbs 4:23, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.")

THE BOOK OF Proverbs is generally assigned to Solomon, who flourished about the year 1000-B. C. No geographical place is mentioned in the chapter.

In the first of this fourth proverb, the writer pictures a happy home, with mother and father tenderly watching the growth and development of their only (maybe their first) child. "For I was my father's son, tender and only beloved in the sight of my mother," he says.

It is a wonderful thing to be born into a family that loves one tenderly from the start. And even more so to be a member of a family in which both parents are honorable, upright people, who are good neighbors and good citizens, as well as good husband and loving parents. Such parents set a standard for their children, and even though such children may do wrong for a time, they will seldom, if ever, sink so low that they cannot right themselves.

This father "taught me also," says the writer, "and said unto me: Let thine heart retain my words, keep thy commandments and live."

"Get wisdom," the proverb states, "get understanding." And again: "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting, get understanding." When you study in school, you are trying to get wisdom out of your books and the teaching of your instructor. But if you do not understand the problem in arithmetic or the thing you are reading, you will not gain much, will you? A good teacher is always glad to answer questions and explain the lessons, and if you understand, you will gain the sort of wisdom for which you were sent to school.

But there is another kind of wisdom which is more important for the children to learn than what we call book learning. It is the wisdom that recognizes the right and good way to live. That kind of wisdom often is possessed by men and women who have very little education from schools.

Of wisdom the writer says: "Exalt her, and she shall promote thee: she shall bring thee to honor, when thou dost embrace her."

"She shall give to thine head an crown of glory, and shall bring thee to honor, when thou dost embrace her."

"My son, attend to my words, incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh."

We who are older often find ourselves remembering things our parents—now gone, maybe—said when we were children. Sometimes their words help us at critical times in our lives. Parents who have lived well and courageously never lose their influence over their children. Let us be thankful for such parents and
